I understand that on-the-water activities are subject to inherent dangerous risks, including but not limited to: sudden changes in weather, wind and wave, unexpected motion of the vessel, slippery and uneven decks, tripping hazards, pinching of and damage to body parts, including possible breaks and dismemberments, blows to the head, hyperthermia or hypothermia, falling in the water which is very cold, and capsize, instability getting on and off boats, and hazards on the docks or other areas adjacent to the boating area, collision with other boats or fixed objects and mistakes in handling of boats or other equipment which may cause bodily injury or dismemberment. I also understand that on-the-water rowing activities involve shared equipment and close proximity to other rowers. I acknowledge and accept the possibility of air or surface borne disease transmission. If I have been exposed to or have a disease that could be transmitted via shared equipment or close-proximity, I will remove myself from participation in rowing activities for two weeks. Understanding the risks involved, I assume responsibility for all risks on the water and land associated with participating in this program. I further agree to hold Come Boating! and their representatives harmless for any personal injuries and/or property damage which I, or my dependent(s), may experience. Rowers or sailors are prohibited from participating in the Come Boating! program if they are under the influence of alcohol or of a controlled or illegal substance. No one who appears intoxicated or under the influence of a controlled or illegal substance will be allowed on board.
